

5 MINUTE GUIDE to CUTTING THE CORD

Tired of paying too much for pay TV?

Consider “cutting the cord” with an HDTV antenna and your high speed Internet connection.

With an outdoor HDTV Antenna, any TV in your home can access high def programming from all four major networks (ABC, CBS, NBC and FOX) along with about 10-15 other channels (and more) for free. The NFL fan

Find an antenna that picks up very high frequency channels 2-13) and Ultra High Frequency (Channels 14-51). The one time cost of an HDTV antenna can range from $15-200 depending on type, brand and style.

For more information on cutting the cord or to set up your cut the cord installation, call Sales! (800) 765-7772.

1 PURCHASE AN HDTV ANTENNA

Visit www.antennaweb.org to find a broadcast tower near you. Antennas should be purchased based on how many miles you are from the majority of the towers.
